HIPAA/Confidentiality & Privacy Policy

The law protects the relationship between a client and a psychotherapist, and information cannot be disclosed without written permission. There are several exceptions that, under NY state or national law, require the therapist to break confidentiality.

Exceptions include:

- Suspected child abuse or dependant adult or elder abuse, for which therapists are required by law to report this to the appropriate authorities immediately.
- If a client is threatening serious bodily harm to another person/s, therapist must notify the police and inform the intended victim.
- If a client intends to harm himself or herself, the therapist will make every effort to enlist client's cooperation in insuring his/her safety. If client does not cooperate then the therapist will take further measures, without the client's permission, that are provided for under the law in order to ensure the client's safety.
- If the therapist receives a court order signed by a judge, he/she is obligated by law to release any/all records requested, to the court.

Consent to Treatment & Cancellation Policy

I acknowledge that I have read (or have had read to me) this form, the Emergency Contact Information Form, and have had all my questions answered fully about the kind of therapy, confidentiality, and my rights in this relationship.

I understand that no promises have been made to me as to the results of treatment or of any procedures provided by this therapist. I am further aware that Marie Ragona is not available for extreme crisis or emergency services, so if I am in an emergency I need to reach out to someone equipped to help me in that way (including, but not limited to): my support network, other professional services, hotlines, or 911/988.

I am aware that I may stop my treatment with this therapist at any time without consequence. The only thing I will still be responsible for is paying for the services I have already received.

I know that I must call, email, or text to cancel an appointment at least 48 hours (2 days) before the time of the appointment. If I do not cancel on time and/or do not show up, I will be charged for that appointment and am responsible for payment within 14 days. I understand that if I try to reschedule the missed appointment and my therapist is unable to accommodate me, I am still responsible for the session. If my therapist is able to accommodate me that same week, the cancellation fee will go towards that new session and no additional fee will be owed.

My signature below shows that I understand and agree with all of these statements.
